SPORTING NOTES.

The entries for the Hongkong Race Meeting have now been published and a cursory consideration of them may not be uninteresting. The number of ponies en ered is about the same as last year, perhaps a little less, but that number has only been kept up by a lot of old ponies that have raced here as subs being entered. Looking over the names it does not appear that there is a single animal who is a first class. racer, that is to say of the class we used to see on the course here, with the one exception of Homegnard, who is now antiss and probably never face the starter. Then came what was perhaps the best item of the evening, being the narration of a sal story of " Hard Luck" with a very pathetic ballad. The inimitable make up, the droll simplicity, the facial expression employed in the delivery of the story were simply side splitting, and hearty appliane was accorded for the mirth which had been provoked. A transition of a startling but dos effective kind was then made. Mr. Pree w appearing next as the charming, naive, and soy Minnie Palmer in her celebrated the original artists the imitation appeared wonderfully elever, and Mr. Fregar had to accorde to parsistent encare and sing the song and give the greaceful dince again. This concinded the Arst part of the entertainment. The opening of the second disclosed the whilem singer. dancer, and burlesque notor as a performer on the mandolin of no man attainmints, his Neapolitan salictions being very skilfully and tunefully rendered. This was smicesiled by an American Silver Sabôt dance which also had to be repeated, and the next feature was a sketch of the model Irish policeman, which was a representation full of fun and clever burlesqueing. As a caricularist of a species of platform orator which most of us are acquainted with, Mr. sorbing question of reform which as worthand writer would have found a most biwildering Mr. Trabuer of course has two very good composition to transcribe. Some new feals in exordemain were then performed, the plausing feature being that they contained no perplexdiff and the latter has not been on the confee line mysteries, us every one could see perfeetly well-assisted by the lacid explanation of the professor-how it was all done. It was not difficult to understand for instance how a penny disappeared from a box into the porformer's hand when a good sized hole was dishe so as sourcely a likely one. However, he is played in the bottom. The charm of knowing the why and wherefore of the marvellous feats was therefore provided gratis to the audience -a concession which fow artistes make. It is safe to say that the entertainment quite falfilled the somewhat large expectations which Mr. Freenr's reputation aroused, and no one. should miss such an opportunity of getting a cheap dose of merciment—a sound specific for unmerous ailments, which even the medical faculty recognise—as will be again afforded this woning: We understand that H.E.
